by Jim Nolan

Brighton is a famous seaside resort and one of the leading cities in southern England. It is located on the south coast of England and is part of the county of East Sussex, with a population of around 150,000 people. Brighton is known for its vibrant nightlife, trendy shopping area, and beautiful beaches. It is also home to the Royal Pavilion, a historic palace that was built in the early 19th century and now serves as a museum and art gallery. The city has a rich cultural heritage and is a popular destination for tourists from around the world. Brighton is easily accessible by car, train, or bus, and is a great base for exploring the surrounding areas, including the South Downs National Park.