Observations on the means of exciting a spirit of national industry chiefly intended to promote the agriculture, commerce, manufactures, and fisheries, of Scotland. By James Anderson,

by James Anderson